The purpose of this research study is to study perceptions of cannabidiol among patients with opioid use disorder. You are being asked to take part in a research study because you have been diagnosed with opioid use disorder.

Being in a research study is completely voluntary. You can choose not to be in this research study. You can also say yes now, and change your mind later. Deciding not to be in the research study, now or later, will not affect your ability to receive medical care at Mount Sinai Medical Center.

If you agree to take part in this research, you will be asked to complete a short survey. Your participation in this study will take about 5 minutes. We expect that 500 people will take part in this research study.

You can choose not to answer any question you do not wish to answer. You can also choose to stop taking the survey at any time. You must be at least 18 years old to participate. If you are younger than 18 years old, please stop now.

The possible risks to you in taking part in this research are:

discomforts, including feeling uncomfortable, or having someone else find out that you were in a research study. Potential loss of confidentiality of data is also a risk. To protect your identity as a research subject, no identifiable information will be collected, the research data will not be stored with your name, the researcher(s) will not share your information with anyone. In any publication about this research, your name or other private information will not be used.

If you have any questions about this research, please contact the Researcher at (212)
